Election First Monday in August, 1890.

A letter from Mobile to THE CLIMAX announced strawberries,

lettuce, peas, beets and radishes,

product of the gardens in that locality.

A Republican called the Buckner meeting at the Court House,

Monday. That of itself was a great compliment to the grand old

Governor.

The Republican Lieutenant

Governor of Maine has gone to the bottom along with that other unfortunate fellow, about whom you hear so much.

The boom has at last struck

Barbourville, and two new brick churches, a $25,000 hotel, a furniture factory, and a hauld factory are the result. Real estate has advanced $8 per front foot.

A beardless young man, from parts unknown, and to parts equally as obscure, tarried awhile at hunting young Middleborough,

and worked the young banks for a good many thousand dollars.

A letter to THE CLIMAX from

Haute de Grace says that the large ice houses at the mouth of the Susquehanna have failed to harvest even a small crop of ice, and have gone to Maine for a supply.

The President has appointed a

Northern man to the Korean mission, and Col. Faulkner, like all other Kentucky Republicans, is left out. The President can not see why he should give to Kentuckians offices outside of the State, when it is hopelessly Democratic.

It is evident that the Republicans in Congress mean to unset-

tle the several Democratic legislators, before the House

Rules are reported and adopted.

The scenes the past week in the House have been wildly exciting,

and the Speaker has ruled with an iron hand. But then he is a Republican, can't help it.

DEATH IN FLAMES.

An awful calamity befell Secretary Tracy and family in Washington City early Monday morning. The house took fire and was burned to the ground. Mrs. Tracy jumped from a window and was killed, and the youngest daughter and her French maid were lost in flames. The Secretary was resued in an insensible condition,

being near to death by suffocation.

A NEW JOURNAL.

"Southern Progress" is the name

STILL EFFERVESCING.

Mr. Brutus J. Clay was in Nicholasville, recently, and made some statements in regard to the R. N. I.

and B. Railroad, which were, he says, incorrectly reported to the Journal of that place. In writing to the Journal to make the needed corrections, Mr. Clay uses this language:

"I did not say that the newspapers

along the line of the R. N. I. & B.

Railroad had been bought up by that corporation, but that the papers in my county (Madison) only published such items as were favorable to the interests of the railroad, unless paid to do otherwise, and that one them, THE CLIMAX,

had added to an advertisement which

I had agreed to pay them for publishing, thereby destroying the purpose for which I had written it."

Speaking for THE CLIMAX, we have to say that it is not true that it publishes only such items as are favorable to the railroad, "unless paid to do otherwise."

It is not true that THE CLIMAX

"added to an advertisement" published by Mr. Clay.

But these statements by Mr.

Clay are in strict accord with the silly sayings that have daily emanated from him since he failed to secure the railroad to Waco,

where he wanted it, but got it across a corner of his farm near

Richmond, where he didn't want it.

Mr. Clay used his efforts to have the road located through Waco,

and failing in that, contracted as

President of the "Waco and Waco

Company" to have it run within two miles of that place. He used his energies to secure the right of way. He signed a paper agreeing to give $100 to locate the road on a certain line through Richmond,

and over the property of people who did not want the road.

Mr. Clay stood cheek by jowl with the railroad company until the construction company until it was decided to run the road

through his farm, and then there came a sudden and violent change.

He said his case should not be tried in this county and filed a petition stating that he could not get a fair and impartial jury in Madison county, asking a change of venue to some other county. This refused, he announced that he man would live long enough to see a pick or spade stuck by the railroad in his lands, and straight-

way filed a petition for an injunction. But war was begun, and he announced that every man that set foot on his place should be arrested for trespass; but they have not been "pulled" as yet. Then he said that every rock thrown by the blasts beyond the "supposed"

right of way would be a lawsuit;

but those suits have not been brought at this writing. When a night force was put on, he signified

his intention of getting out an injunction; but it was not forthcoming. He applied to the Circuit

Clerk for a supersedeas, and upon the Clerk's decision that he had no right to issue same,

threatened to sue him; but he did not. He talked of suing THE CLIMAX for some imaginary injury; but neglected to do so. He announced that the construction company was insolvent, "and at the same time the company was making $5,000 under his nose, besides paying all demands whatso-

Program of Both Branches of the National Legislature.

NOTHING STARTLING EXPECTED.

The Senate Will Discuss the Blair

Educational Bill and Will Probably Pass It.

The Exciting Scenes in the House Over

the Contested Election Cases Will Be Repeated in That Body.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The Senate

met today for the consideration of the Blair educational bill. It comes up as the unfinished business of the Senate, and it will continue to come up at 2 o'clock each day until it is disposed of.

Its passage is a foregone conclusion, but it may be debated at some length, and its consideration may take up two or three afternoons.

A decision is expected from the supreme court of the United States in the suit involving the validity of the Idaho

test case. In event this decision is returned to the committee on territories may dispose of the bill for the admission of Idaho at its next meeting. Senator

Platt, chairman of the committee, has however, more urgent matters to bring before the Senate. The secretary of the interior, in an interview with him Friday, laid before him the necessity of pushing to a passage the bill already reported from the committee providing a temporary government for Oklahoma.

Senator Platt will ask the Senate to consider this measure at an early day.

The customs administration bill

known as the McKinley bill will be reported to the finance committee Tuesday

by the sub-committee, Aldrich, Allison and McPherson will doubtless be reported to the Senate the same day. A number of amendments will be suggested, and when the Senate passes the measure it will be thrown out of consideration for some days.

The discussion of Senator Butler's

bill to assist the emigrant may be resumed from or after the discussion of some other bill. The Senator from South Carolina himself may make a brief speech explaining the character of the measure, further as he believes it has been seriously misunderstood by some of the speakers who have discussed it in the Senate.

In the secret session the nominations

of Indian Commissioner Logan and the Superintendent of Indian schools, Dr.

Dorchester, are still awaiting consideration. The discussion of these cases is due to the fact that if they were brought up at once, they would be decided at once. So they may not be considered during the present week. An article will be made to obtain time

for the consideration of the Samoan treaty, which is now pending. Senator

Friscock's committee qualification will probably meet during the week, but no report is expected from it immediately.

Probable House Program.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The exciting

scenes that characterized the proceedings of the House yesterday will continue today and will last until the Republican members of the committee on territories submit their report on the case of the Smith-Jackson case. It is the purpose of the majority members of the committee to report on the case as soon as the Smith-Jackson case is disposed of. The committee has heard the evidence, and the case has had nothing to do with its decision.

According to the agreement entered into by the members of the committee on Tuesday, Feb. 13, the majority

will report on the Smith-Jackson case

on Wednesday, Feb. 14, and the minority will report on the same case

on Thursday, Feb. 15.

Pickaway and Madison, was held Saturday

at Mt. Sterling, O.

Twenty thousand people have visited the exhibition of the Vandalia collection of paintings, and "The Angelus" in Chicago,

in the past two weeks.

Joseph R. Shombert, a young man of Middletown, Md., was shot and dangerously

wounded by his father-in-law, Harry Crome,

during a family row.

J. F. Horner, of Kansas City, has been arrested, charged with swindling H. D.

Stricker and J. S. Warden out of $22,000 worth of real estate.

The schooner John Hancock, which was reported to have been seized by pirates off

the coast of Lower California, arrived safely

in Port at San Francisco.

A bill has been introduced in Congress to supply the Gettysburg museum with specimens of the arms, uniforms and implements

of war used in the battle.

The $20,000 of county warrants issued by the county officers, who held office pending

the settlement of the contested county seat

election in Hamilton county, Kan., are adjudged void.

The influenza is spreading in the City of Mexico, and has assumed a more virulent

form. The United States minister's son, who is suffering from pneumonia, is in a dangerous condition.

THE CLIMAX.

Wednesday, - - February 5, 1900.

The St. Nicholas has a free cab for its guests.

Three story residence for sale or rent by N. B. Deatherage. See ad.

Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Turner have just passed the 50th anniversary of their marriage.

Ten thousand bushels of Irish potatoes wanted by Covington, Arnold & Bro. See local.

Mr. William Wag is the new postmaster at Point Lick, and is pronounced a good one.

A remarkable discovery of near relatives is related in our Red House items found elsewhere in today's CLIMAX.

Mr. M. M. Harber is down from the Altamont Mines and says they are shipping thirteen cars of coal a day.

Covington & Mitchell are spreading it on thick and thin in their elegant new store. Fine thick suits at low prices.

Mr. C. B. Hill, now with Mr. Muncey in the Adams Express office, is from College Hill, this county, but formerly from Owensboro.

Shep Gibson, a colored man, was bit by a mad dog, last week. He resorted to Mr. Cliff Burgin's madstone and it stuck five times.

Mr. James C. Adams, as guardian of James and Charles Hagan, will, on February 11th, rent for the year 1899, a farm near Kirkville.

The flowers are in bloom again, the weather adding to the thermometer up in the 70's. The weather will be colder in May than now.

John C. G. Miller has built a residence on his farm near his old home in this county, and has had it nicely furnished. What next?

The continued warm weather has raised a row in a certain camp. W. A. Powell says he is going to sell his goods at such price if you will come to see him. See his ad.

Mr. W. N. Potts has purchased a $7,500 interest in the Standard fields. If any man knows better than any other man that a mill is, our former citizen Potts is the one.

Mr. Schofield, of the new clothing firm of York & Schofield, is a nephew of Prof. Schofield, of Danville, who performed the deaf mute marriage in this place recently.

Ed. Hogan, for twenty-two years drummer for John P. Morton & Co., printers, Louisville, and who had many times visited Richmond, died suddenly while taking a bath in Bowling Green, Friday.

A finger of a little grand-daughter of ex-postmaster Taylor was amputated at the third joint, yesterday, by Doctors Foster and Roberts. A varicose enlargement existing from birth, was the trouble.

A report was circulated here last week that small pox existed in the railroad camp in the suburbs. As no one is sick at the camp it is not probable that there are more than a thousand cases of the speckled disease.

The Middleborough News announces that Colonel D. G. Slaughter is to have charge of the new $50,000 hotel on Queensberry Heights, that place, and that it is to be named Katydind, in honor of J. L. McKinney, that being her own name.

Fire Insurance.
If you need fire insurance, consider the amount of that reliable firm of agents, Burnam & Hume, in today's issue. Strong companies and low rates.

Drug Change.
Mr. A. G. Woods has purchased the interest of Mr. Hutchison in the drug firm of Woods & Hutchison, Glyndon Hotel drug store, and all goes smoothly on. Mr. Campbell Patterson is salesman.

Combination Sale.
B. Howard Neale and Walter Bennett are talking of having a combination sale of horses here the first of May. That is a good move—keep it going. Such a sale can be had with profit to all parties concerned.

His First.
An Ohio man was on Monday, his first visit to the State, and saw for the first time, a genuine Kentucky Court day. He had not so much as heard of the institution, and was compelled to ask what it meant—so many cattle, mules, and other animals in town.

Heavy Hugs.
Mr. H. B. Barnett sold to J. F. Wagers, 44 hogs that averaged 400 lbs. That is the largest average, for so large a number of hogs that the county has produced for a long time. The price paid was $3.45 per hundred, or $13.45 a head. They were shipped Saturday from Fort Estill.

Broken up by Grippe.
Miss Sallie Ellis, teacher in the Deaf and Dumb Institute, Danville, is at home for the present. La Grippe existed in the school to such an extent that the management thought a temporary suspension advisable. No deaths have occurred, but there are several troublesome cases.

Mules and Sheep.
Mr. H. H. Colyer sold yesterday to W. O. Brock, of Clark, 450 ewes—5 cars—at $4 to $4.50 per hundred. Average 95 pounds.

To Tennessee parties he sold 39 mule colts at $65 per head.

Mr. Colyer will leave to-morrow for Missouri with 13 good jacks—the largest load that ever went out of this county.

Joined in January.
List of marriage licenses issued during the month of January, 1899: P. Riddle and Eva Harpe; W. T. Cutsinger and Henrietta Waters; James Cain and Julia Kirkendall; J. T. Friend and Mary L. Boon; Wm. L. Leeds and Sarah M. Johnson; J. B. Danner and Julia Brooks; Wm. G. Lucas and Etta Burnam; Daniel Long and Laura Hickman; W. L. Wilder and Amanda Elder.

The Pennsylvania Law.
Tobacco dealers in the large cities declare the law prohibiting the sale of cigarettes to minors has no apparent influence on the amount of cigarettes sold, and the inference is that in some way all who want cigarettes, whether they are minors or not, get them. There seems to be no dispute about the evil results of cigarette smoking on immature boys.—Lancaster New Era.

Change of Firm.
Mr. W. A. Powell has bought the interest of Dr. G. W. Evans in the clothing firm of W. A. Powell & Co., and henceforward the firm name is that of the former existed will be minus the Co. Mr. Powell is an experienced merchant, and with the assistance of Mr. James White, whose services are continued, will remain at McKee's old stand, corner of Main and First Streets.

BRIDGES.

The bridge for the R. N. I. & B. at Irvine makes the tenth bridge that spans the Kentucky river between the Three Forks and the mouth. Three of the ten cross out of Madison—one little Clark, one into Fayette, and one into Jessamine. Will somebody name a river, and especially one no longer than the Kentucky, that has as many bridges? Yet they say Kentucky is a small State.

Up and at It Again.
The large interior portion of the Bonanza Roller Mills that did the McGinty act so thoroughly, two weeks ago Monday, after a heavy loss, has been restored by hard work day and night, and is grinding well now, and is in its usual vigorous and steady way. This is marvellously rapid work. The center column, the base of which gave way, causing the accident, has been made everlastingly strong, so that there can be no repetition of the catastrophe.

Court Day.
A larger number of cattle and mules on the market Monday, than for the past several months. Auctioneers Bush and Deatherage were absent. Capt. Ballard, who rarely goes on the street to auctioneer, was induced to make a few sales. He reports ten or twelve mules sold at $60 to $185; one pair of mules $325. He reports but few cattle sold, with prices a shade below last week.

W. Stuart Jones reports sale of a lot of 3-year-old cattle at $75, and a lot of two-year-olds at good prices.

A good number of people in town.

Horse Item.
The CLIMAX gives its readers only one horse item this week, but it is a good one, as well as a big one. It occupies two columns on the fourth page, and is from that reliable and interesting journal, the Lexington Stock Farm. Recently we quoted from the same paper a lengthy article entitled "In-and-In" (Breeding), which gave great satisfaction among our readers interested in horses. The article published to-day is entitled "A Table of the Great Wilkes Family in all its Generations." It is an article that required much care and research.

Sale of a Hotel and Opera House.
The Warner Grand Opera House and Hotel at Kansas City, Missouri, the finest structure of the kind in the Missouri valley, built at a cost of $200,000 and opened September 10, 1887, by Booth & Barrett, has been sold at public auction by the sheriff and was purchased for $350,000 cash by George W. Henry, a Chicago millionaire lumber dealer. George W. Henry, the Missouri poet, who had made a fortune out of real estate, built the structure regardless of expense. He borrowed money liberally. Real estate prices went down and the notes were all met by Warner.—Exchange.

Mr. Warner married Miss McWilliams, whose parents lived on West Main Street, this place, where Mr. C. E. Smith now lives.

Opera House.
The bill incorporating an Opera House Company in Richmond has passed both branches of the Legislature, and been signed by the Governor. The incorporators include some of the most substantial gentlemen of the town and county, and there is every evidence that a creditable building will begin in the early spring. Books for subscription to the capital stock will be opened, and an opportunity given everybody desiring to aid the laudable enterprise, to subscribe. Not many days will be required to secure the requisite amount.

The location has not of course been selected. The old Garrett House remodelled would make an excellent place. There is the vacant lot next to the Baptist Church which is a delightful location. Mr. John Farley has a vacant lot, corner of Second and Water Street that would be convenient, and Mr. H. B. Dillingham has a good place on the opposite corner. Mr. C. F. McHenry has a vacant place opposite these two.

The Sick.
Esom Burgin is seriously ill with La Grippe.

R. L. Gentry is out again, after a hard tussle with the grippe.

Ab. Oldham, salesman for Ramsey & Oldham, is dangerously sick with pneumonia.

Willis Hild is seriously ill at his home on Brock Street, but was better at going to press.

Dr. Joe Hood, of Millon precinct, whose sickness was noticed last week, is somewhat improved.

J. W. Embury continues ill at his home in this county, and has been confined for a number of months.

Mr. P. P. Ballard continues ill at her home on Third Street. She has been feeble for a number of months.

Ed. D. Ballard continues sick at his home on Smith-Ballard Street, in this place. He has not been out for several weeks.

Rev. O. D. Henderson, of Station Camp, who was dangerously sick for several months, was here on Monday, his first time out.

Richard White Miller is sick at the home of his mother, on 4th Avenue. He was taken with pneumonia upon his return from Yale College for the holidays.

Robert Woodcock, whose general health is good, is confined to his room with a muscular trouble that prevents his going about. He has not been down town for a long time.

Talton Shanks is somewhat improved since the surgical operation, embracing an examination of his lung, performed at his residence on Four Mile Avenue, near the Fair grounds, recently. He has been suffering for several months.

Recent Deaths.
Judge A. J. Ewing, father of Mrs. Dr. Poyntz, of this place, and who died at Owensville, was 71 years old, and the wealthiest man in Bath county. He leaves eight children.

Dr. Samuel Crews, who died at Fayette, Mo., was born in this county 90 years ago. He was one of the wealthiest men in Missouri.

Joshua Parks, who died recently, at Liberty, Mo., removed from this county shortly after the war. He was a brother of George W. Parks, near Speedwell, and lived in that vicinity. He was the father-in-law of Dr. M. A. Bogie, of Kansas City, formerly of this county. His age was near 70.

John Mason Brown, who died in Louisville, last week, was one of Kentucky's ablest lawyers, and a man whose character was highly respected by the people of his city. He was in Richmond recently in the railroad condemnation proceedings. A graduate of Yale, he was Colonel of the 4th Kentucky.

Rev. Stephen Noland, who died in Nicholasville, last week, formerly resided in Richmond. He was born in Indiana in 1818, but while young he removed to Estill county, Ky., and in early manhood came to Richmond, penniless and friendless. But he had energy and brains, and success crowned his efforts. He became Commonwealth's Attorney, and in the language of the immortal Grant, he "let no guilty man escape." He entered the

METHODIST MINISTRY.

Methodist ministry, and proved as able a pulpit as at the bar. As a merchant and financier he was equally successful. At the time of his death he was at the head of the banking firm of Noland, Willmore & Co. For years he had been editor of the Central Methodist. A remarkable incident in his career was his announcement that the Savior had made him a visit. He described minutely the Savior's dress, manners, appearance and voice, and related the conversation in which Mr. Noland's work on earth was fully endorsed. But in a book subsequently written by Mr. Noland, this wonderful visit by the Lord is not mentioned, yet he died without any change of mind on the subject, so far as public utterance informs us.

Methodist Ministry.
The Monon has contracted for five hundred new freight cars.

The masonry at the great Marble Creek Canyon on the R. N. I. & B. is nearly done.

Mr. John B. Carson, Vice-President and General Manager of the L. N. A. and is sick at his home in Chicago with the grip.

The railroads in West Virginia are now enriching the treasury of the State. The State treasury on Friday received over $70,000 from the Chesapeake and Ohio, and Saturday the Parkersburg Branch of the Baltimore and Ohio paid in $40,000, and the Norfolk and Western $31,000. The Ohio River Railroad and the Kana wha and Ohio have appealed from the valuation made by the board of public works, and will not pay up yet.

The Louisville, Mt. Sterling and Norfolk railroad folks have put another corps of engineers on their proposed route. At present they are located at Salsyville, and they will begin work at that point. The gentlemen at the head of this project are pushing the work to a finish, and they will be ready to start construction work in the early spring. This road would be of great interest to the entire population of Kentucky, especially Eastern Kentucky and the city of Louisville, and while the people along the line will be asked to take stock in the enterprise, Louisville capital stock will be the power by which it will be put through.—Courier-Journal.

PERSONAL.

Mr. A. D. Ruff has returned from a delightful visit to his old home.

Mrs. Sallie Wilson, of Jessamine county, visited Mrs. W. Stuart Jones, this place, last week.

Mr. John Fitzpatrick, attorney at law, Pineville, is visiting his old home here, and says his town has taken on a new bloom.

Stephen W. Cosby and Squire Davis left yesterday for Illinois, their future home. May they prosper like the Vanderbilts.

Mr. Joe Rice and bride, see Garnett, left for Cave City, their home, on Friday, after a ten days visit to relatives here at his old home.

An elegant Cincinnati hall is described by the Enquirer, and among the numerous participants, Miss Mattie McDowell of Richmond, is mentioned.

Mr. R. Tate Irvine, attorney at law and real estate agent at Middleborough, is here for a day or two, and says that his new home is the liveliest place he has seen in a century.

David R. Francis is Governor of Missouri. He is a tall, well built, handsome Westerner of the vigorous type. He has a good, genial face, decorated with a brown mustache, and his manners and speech are engaging. He was Mayor of St. Louis, before he was elected Executive, and is noted for his active public spirit. Governor Francis is said to possess an ambition to run as Vice-President on the ticket with Mr. Cleveland in 1892.—New York Star.

THIN COLUMN.
The Bourbon News insists on calling it "The La Grippe." But then the News is published in Paris, France, you know.

A coffin came by express to a firm of undertakers in this place, but their names were so long the shippers couldn't get them on the box, so it was marked Collins & Death.

The ground-hog appeared at precisely 12 o'clock, on Sunday, but was unable to decide whether he could see his shadow or not. The weather for 30 days will therefore be a mixture of winter and summer.

A new candidate for fame and fortune, called Kentucky Home and School, and published at Mt. Vernon, by Mr. W. E. Shaw, locates Mammoth Cave in Christian county. Oh, Shaw, when was it moved over out of Edmondson?

A Richmond fellow asked about a man who went into a grocery and asked the clerk if he had "any of this new kind of tea?" and when the clerk wanted to know what kind of tea he meant, the man said McGinty. He thought the joke so good that he would go at once and work it off on one of our town grocers. So he hurried along, and dashing in he asked, "have you got any of this new kind of sugar?" The grocer asked "what kind of sugar do you mean?" and the fellow said McGinty.

DOYLESVILLE.
La Grippe is raging in this section.

Mr. J. W. Hild is very low with fever. G. D. Dunbar sold to John Chennault, 130 acres, $5,300.

Meers, J. W. Wells and Hiram Jett made a flying trip to Lexington last week.

John Olds and Geo. Dunbar have given up all hope of matrimony and gone back in the reminiscence of childhood, to remain until 1892, when they will again appear on the carpet.

KINGSTON.
Miss Minnie Hild is attending school at East Bernabie.

Mr. Monday, of Salsyville, Mercer county, visited his aunt Mrs. T. C. Witt, last week.

Bales and Maupin sold last week Tennessee pure, 33 yearling mules at $37.50.

Five pure bred Poland China hogs, ready for service. Also some work mares and work mules for sale, by G. J. White & Son.

BEATTYVILLE.
Beattyville is doing her best to get up a big boom.

Everybody has got the grippe, cannot hear anything now but how's your grippe?

Work on the Government dam has suspended for awhile, but will continue early in the spring.

James H. Edwards, of Fairview, Estill county, has accepted a position on the tenth regiment of the R. N. I. & B. R. Y., with Wm. Root, resident engineer.

The new hotel will probably be completed by the beginning of the next century or before. It is already much needed, and is sure to do a fine business, if properly managed.

Capt. C. A. Gordon, Sr., was in Beattyville on the 23rd ult. He had charge of the locating corps now locating the extension of the R. N. I. & B. R. R., from Beattyville to Pineville, the distance between the two points being 110 miles.

MILLION.
Dr. J. F. Hood is sick again, but not so seriously as before.

Mr. H. W. Haden has been taking the Cincinnati Enquirer for twenty-four years.

Miss Sallie Breeding, of Washington county, is visiting Miss Olive Perkins, and will remain during the winter.

Tates Creek, from end to end, is ready and waiting to go on a boom as soon as the spring and the R. N. I. & B. open, which will not be in for some time.

Mr. F. Million has a pocket-book that he paid one dollar for 38 years ago. He carried it daily for 20 years, and since has whenever he leaves home. It is a good one yet. The dollar was all he had and he gave it for the pocket book to put in it.

A wonderful mouse nest has been discovered by a family in this vicinity. In looking through an old bureau, an odd looking bunch of something was found, and when pulled to pieces proved to be the nest of a mouse made up of a lot of old papers belonging to the late Ira G. Million. Many of them were cut into fragments, while others were intact. Among them was a $50 Confederate bill, tax receipts—one for $25, signed by Caldwell Campbell, deputy sheriff for I. C. Miller; one for 1826, signed by G. W. M. Barbour, D. S. for D. Benton or Bruton, or Burton, the writing being indistinct; one for 1827, signed by R. Caldwell, sheriff.

RED HOUSE.
Miss Hattie Hugely and Mr. Caleb Sheard, accompanied by Miss Flora McDowell, have returned from a visit to relatives in Missouri.

Mr. James Dozier, of this vicinity, and Miss Jane Brooks, daughter of Mr. John O. Brooks, near Union City, were married on the 22nd ult. Attendances—Mr. M. C. Taylor, Jr., and Miss Celia Taylor. After the ceremony, the party repaired to the home of the groom, "Woodland Heights,"

RELIGIOUS.

Rev. H. T. Daniel, of Richmond, has left a fine impression on the Baptist brethren here, and it is likely he will be called to the pastorate. He has recently held some very successful meetings.—Paris Kentuckian-Citizen.

One of the most important gatherings to be held in this State for some months to come will be the Ninth Annual Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Kentucky, at Paris, February 15th and 16th.

Bishop Ames, of the Catholic diocese of Covington, has secured ground upon Madison Avenue, the central residence place of the city of Covington, as the site for a new Cathedral, which is to be built this year, at a cost of $100,000.
